THUNDER

Thunder spends everyday challenging the people that come to ANT helping them identify their own challenges and obstacles and then using that opportunity creates ways for them to try out new patterns and behaviors.

The ANT horses help youth to develop clear communication and leadership skills, to build trust slowly, and increase confidence within themselves; in turn, empowering them to continue attending school, acquire job skills, develop tolerance, beat addictions, and quit bullying and/or no longer accept violence as a part of their lives.

It's a big call but it is working for many and Thunder is up for the challenge thanks to your support!

Born: 1985

Palomino/Mustang/Quarter Horse Gelding

Facts: was a 4-H, trail riding champion before coming here in 2004

Thunder spent 496 hours in 2010 working with all ages of youth: kids who have lived in their cars with their moms, youth recovering from lives of addictions and sometimes gangs, kids with low self worth, ADHD, and mental health diagnoses.

Thank you for supporting him!
He would love to see you sometime soon too!
